Dear Brink Prayer Team,

The woman Marcy is counseling passed her English and Typing exam last week. Unfortunately, she failed her job interview with the local manager.

We have connected her with the English academy where we help out. There she will get additional English training and hopefully an interview with a different company.

Please continue to pray for her as she is feeling quite discouraged. Thanks for praying with us, Jason and Marcy

Dear Brink Prayer Team,

UPDATE

*The woman Marcy has been counseling and who has been training in English had an interview with a call center today. She passed the English portion of the interview, but failed the typing portion. They are giving her another chance tomorrow morning to pass the typing test. If she passes, they told her she can start the new job on Monday. Pray with us that she passes this test, but that no matter what she will keep her eyes on Jesus.

Thanks for praying with us – Jason and Marcy

Dear Brink Prayer Team,

Would you please pray with us for these people in our ministries:

*The woman Marcy has been counseling and who has been training in English, failed her final exam and was released from the program. She is trying to interview with another call center in the hope of being hired. Please pray for employment for this woman who is feeling discouraged and desperate. Marcy has been unable to speak with her directly since she failed the exam.... We're praying the communication and relationship won't be cut off.

A student in our university ministry is scheduled to leave on her Mormon mission early in January. We're praying that God would direct her to His truth before she leaves. If God chooses to use us, that we would have the right words to share with her.

The wife of a security guard in our ministry is ill and discovered she has a tumor. She believes in God's existence but hasn't recognized or accepted Jesus and his gift of salvation. Please pray with us for the Holy Spirit to convict her heart and heal her body.

Thanks for praying with us – Jason and Marcy
